Aon, in its capacity as data processor, will process your personal data for the purpose of providing you with your pension services on behalf of the Trustee, the data controller. Following instructions from the Trustee, we may carry out an identity check electronically using a credit reference agency. The check, including a search on the full electoral roll, won't be visible to lenders and it won't affect your credit rating. We're allowed to access details like this for the specific purposes of anti-money laundering, identity verification and fraud prevention. We refer you to the privacy notice of the Trustee or of your employer to inform you about the processing activities in relation to your pension benefits.
